CAPT. P. A. DEMENS SUMMONED—WAS A POWER IN DIPLOMATIC CIRCLES

INTIMATE FRIEND OF F. NANCYERS IN UNITED STATES

Known to His Friends as the "Democrat of Aristocracy." Helped Unravel Russian Tangle Here in 1916.

The death of Capt. P. A. Demens, prominent orange grower and shipper, of Alta Loma, occurred on Tuesday, at his ranch home.

Death was caused by a complication of diseases, and was not unexpected, as Capt. Demens had been in failing health for some time. With him at the end were his wife and two children, Miss Inna Demens and Valdimar.

He was an intimate friend and associate of hundreds of men who shaped the financial development of this country and took part in the epochal events of his own native land. A man of letters and achievement in many other lines, a confidant of princes and adviser to any one who sought his help and cheer, Capt. Demens was known to many of his admirers as the "democrat of aristocracy." He occupied a unique place in the affairs of Russia and this country.

Unravelled Tangle. Though in close touch with the affairs of Russia and a constant contributor to the current literature of that land, he was not connected with its government until 1916, when in response to an urgent request of friends in Russia he went to New York and took charge of the tangled affairs of the Russian government's purchasing bureau, which had become disorganized through the swift changes in Europe. After several months of hard work, Capt. Demens returned to his Southern California home.

Following the overthrow of the Russian empire, Capt. Demens entertained at his ranch, prominent members of a delegation sent from that country to study conditions in America.

Well Known in U. S. His talents and brilliant personality made him hundreds of friends in the United States. He was well known to many prominent railroad financiers and executives in the East and in Southern California.

He was born in Petrograd. Descended from a noble Russian family, with large landed estates in the government of Tver, he later became a Marshal of Nobility, and was on intimate terms with the most powerful in the Russian empire at that time. He was first cousin to Prince Petroff and a captain in the Imperial Guard. In 1880 he left Russia, a political exile, according to his friends here, and equipped only with his personality and talents, arrived in Florida, where he soon became identified with the railroad interests and was closely associated in the building up of what later became the Southern Railway system.

Alta Loma Philosopher. From Florida Capt. Demens went to North Carolina, and from there to Idaho, where he was associated with lumber interest. In 1891 he came to Los Angeles and bought a home near Thirty-eighth street and Orchard avenue, where he lived until six years ago, when he moved to his ranch near Alta Loma. He became known for his writings both in this country and as a contributor to Russian periodicals.

In 1905 Capt. Demens made a trip to Russia, and found himself in the whirl of the revolution which, though unsuccessful, laid the foundation for the later overthrow of the imperial government. His trip, however, had no connection with the revolutionary movement. Always a true friend of Russia, the captain met a number of influential men of that country, some of whom later became leaders in the new republic.

Capt. Demens knew Prince Lvoff, Prof. Milukoff and many of the men who formed the cabinet of the new republic. The later turn of affairs, and the ultimate betrayal of Russia, by paid traitors was one of the big

CROMBIE ALLEN INITIATES BIG SAVING

TAXPAYERS WILL SAVE A TIDY SUM BY NEW PLAN IN FORCE

Complete List of Bills Introduced in Present Legislature Found at Chamber of Commerce and Public Library Here.

Assemblyman Crombie Allen of Ontario has arranged to have complete files of all bills, resolutions, constitution amendments, etc., introduced in the assembly and senate sent to the public libraries and chambers of commerce of the 57th assembly district.

In the past there was a tremendous waste through sending out matter to individuals who requested it. Two years ago Assemblyman Allen introduced a resolution which was adopted limiting the number of mailing copies for each member to fifteen and that these should be sent to libraries, chambers of commerce and other places of public character. This at first met with opposition because members felt that it infringed upon their personal rights to send bills to any one to whom they desired but it was shown in practice that the new method was not only more efficient and economical than the old wasteful method but also more satisfactory to the member himself. Frequently a constituent would ask his legislator to send him copies of all the bills introduced. He had no idea what that meant until they began to drop into his mail daily, then he found he was getting more than he bargained for and tried to stem the deluge as he was really interested in only a small part of the bills.

Now under the new arrangement any one in any community can go to his library or chamber of commerce and look over the "History," discover what he is interested in, then turn to the file of bills and read the complete text of it. Should he desire additional copies of the particular bill he is interested in all he has to do is to write to his legislator for them.

In this way each public place has a complete record for the consultation of the people of the community and it is just as available as if each citizen had the whole thing himself. Thus the state is saved an enormous expense in paper, printing and postage while the citizens of the state are served more efficiently than under the old system because every citizen has an equal opportunity to keep in touch with proposed legislation, whereas under the old regime only the few who got the bills knew what was going on.

The following is a list of libraries and chambers of commerce to which Assemblyman Allen has ordered complete copies of legislative proceedings:

- The Public Library, Upland.
- The Public Library, San Bernardino.
- The Public Library, Ontario.
- Chaffey Library, Ontario.
- Chamber of Commerce, Chino.
- Chamber of Commerce, Cucamonga.
- Chamber of Commerce, Etiwanda.
- Chamber of Commerce, Ontario.
- Chamber of Commerce, San Bernardino.
- Chamber of Commerce, Upland.
- Chamber of Commerce, Victorville.
- Chamber of Commerce, Rialto.

shocks that undermined his health, his intimate friends in Los Angeles declare. A man of absolute loyalty to his new country, Capt. Demens was strongly pro-ally and sought by his writings to keep Russia away from Bolshevik influences.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Raisse Demens, two daughters, Miss Inna and Miss Vera Demens, three sons, Valdim, Eugene and Valdimar Demens, and granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Blair Davis of No. 5640 Irvington place, Los Angeles.

Miss Inna Demens is widely known as an author. Her book, "He Who Breaks," attracted nation-wide attention at the time of its publication about a year ago, and was classed by some of the critics as a penetrating study of the artistic temperament and a fearless, vivid analysis of the sex conflict in art.

Eugene Demens is an executive of a large industrial plant in Vancouver, B. C.

LT. EARLE HOUGHTON WINS IN FIGHT WITH THIRTY ENEMY PLANES

Fifteen Miles in German Territory When Wounded in Thigh by Machine Gun, But Sticks to Post and Conquers.

Earl Houghton, formerly a resident here and well known, has been cited for bravery while on duty in the war zone. Lieut. Houghton is a brother of the president of the Claremont National Bank, who has just received the following letters:

"First Lieut. Earl Houghton, A. S. U. S. A., pilot of the 91st aero squadron, on October 23rd, during the Argonne-Meuse offensive, the wounded in combat with thirty hostile air planes, by his skill and cool-headedness, enabled the mission to be successfully completed.

"By order of Colonel MILLING. W. C. SHERMAN, Lt. Col. A. S. U. S. A.

An extract from the recommendation for letter of merit, says:

"Lieut. Houghton, in the course of a photographic mission for which his plane was acting as protection, showed great courage and spirit of self-sacrifice. He attacked by more than thirty enemy planes, and seriously wounded by the first burst of shots, he stuck to his post and enabled the mission to be brought to a successful close. Lieut. Houghton has been officially credited with the destruction of two enemy planes.

"E. R. COOK, Capt. Commanding. Lieut. Houghton was about fifteen miles in German territory at the time he was wounded in the thigh by a machine gun bullet. He succeeded in reaching the American lines and changed to be sent to a hospital which was under the direction of Dr. Rhea Smith of Los Angeles. It is expected he will reach home within a few weeks.

COUNTY GOES OVER THE TOP IN DRIVE

With the county safely over the top in the Syrian-Armenian Relief campaign county chairman, Judge O. N. Hilton, plans on leaving the fore part of the week for Denver, where he will preside in the superior court.

"I'm more than proud of Ontario and Upland, for they came through in this campaign in fine style."

The county's quota was $13,877.40, and total figures for drive are some $14,500 and increasing every day. Upland gave $1600.66 up to yesterday while the $100 per month paid on pledges made last year and continuing this year will make Upland's donation for 1919 $2800.

INFLUENZA CASES ARE DECREASING

There has been a notable decrease in the number of cases of influenza and no deaths since the establishment of the quarantine and partial closing order by the Board of Health. Also the cases are much less severe than in November and December. If the people will continue to support the Board of Health as they are doing at present this recurrence of the epidemic will soon be under control.

Attention is called to the following suggestion from the State Board of Health concerning the individual responsibility:

"Health officers should give publicity to the fact that the burden of responsibility in the control of influenza rests, after all, chiefly upon the people themselves. The difficulties in framing intelligent quarantine measures and the difficulties in diagnosis make it imperative that each citizen should be alive to his responsibilities to the rest of the community. People should remain at home whenever suffering from a cold, even

BUSINESS LOOMS UP AS OF FORMER DAYS CITRUS ORCHARDS ARE IN DEMAND

REPORTS OF BIG INCREASE IN BUSINESS COME FROM EVERY QUARTER

Inquiries for Orange Groves Here Every Day. Houses and Rooms for Rent Are at a Premium. Many Big Deals Lately.

Back to the good old days of five or six years ago is evidenced on every hand in the city of Upland, for from every source and in every line of business comes the report of a big increase in business.

With the danger of frost for this season practically eliminated and with Upland practically free of frost damage which injured fruit in many localities in Southern California, prospective purchasers of orange groves are here every day and during the past seven days fully a half dozen groves have been sold, while in the down-town section buyers are looking for homes, furnished rooms and homes for light housekeeping are at a premium.

One citrus grove owner stated the other day, "When they asked me if I wanted to sell I put the price so high that I thought no one else would want my grove, but it's sold and I don't know whether I'm sorry I sold or not."

One of the biggest deals here was the sale of the former Smith grove on West Ninth street, owned by Mr. Stults of Ontario, who sold the ten acres to S. W. McIntock for $25,000. The grove is mostly of navels.

Louis Meyer grove at Twenty-first and San Antonio has been sold to Mr. Russell Stuckert, of Philadelphia, for a reported consideration of $13,500. The grove is of lemons and oranges and is a young grove. Mr. Stuckert and family will arrive in the city in April and make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Vandenberg, foreman of Hotpoint, Ontario, are now the owners of the R. C. Norton lemon grove, located on Mountain avenue between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets.

W. S. Robertson of Claremont has purchased the Robert Mitchell grove for a reported consideration of $14,500.

B. C. Nichols has sold his residence on Euclid avenue to Frank White of Wyoming.

Gus Anderson has purchased the Earl Colborn residence on Tenth street and moved into his new home this week.

It is reported that the McDonald grove, corner of San Antonio avenue and Twentieth street, has been sold to a Mr. Seeley.

J. D. Masten has sold to John Jacobs one acre of oranges, corner of 18th street and Euclid avenue.

J. W. Bridenbaugh has purchased the former Gibson grove of ten acres located on the southwest corner of Nineteenth street and Euclid avenue.

ROBERT WEISS BUYS M'CLAIR HARDWARE

Robert Weiss, pioneer hardware dealer in the city of Upland, is once again in the business, having this morning taken possession of the E. B. McClair hardware, which he purchased yesterday.

Mr. Weiss was the second hardware merchant here having purchased the first hardware established, which was located in the Sourwine building now located south of the Santa Fe, and supplied a large amount of hardware which entered into the erection of many of the older residences and buildings erected.

PRIVATE ROY KING HERE FROM FRANCE

WAS IN BATTLE OF THE ARGONNE FOREST AND IS WOUNDED

Relates Happy Escape for Him, But Sad Ending for Friend. Says Y. M. C. A. Not Liked in Sector Where He Was.

Private Roy King, of Sawtelle, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Rogers, spent a short time here the first of the week. Private King was in the Battle of Argonne Forest and on the reserve in the battle waged against Metz. Private King was injured in the leg and arm and as a result of gas gangren underwent an operation in which his index finger on the left hand was removed. Private King states that it did him good to see the Germans run, even if they did put him in the hospital when a German hardware store blew up near him. German shells are often alluded to by the Yanks as hardware stores owing to the amount of metal therein.

Private King doesn't like to talk about the horrors of the war, but told of one experience in which he was talking with a comrade during a bombardment when a shell struck near them. King threw himself to the ground and was uninjured, and after the explosion subsided looked for his friend. All he found of him was his legs from the feet to his knees.

Asked regarding the Y. M. C. A. Private King stated he didn't like to talk about it, but in the sector in which he was in the soldier boys were overcharged for supplies and general dissatisfaction existed regarding the conduct of the Y.

Reports of returning soldier boys have placed the Y. M. C. A. in a decidedly bad light, a train passing through San Bernardino the other day bearing returning troops from the front bore the following placard, "Y. M. C. A. Burns Keep off This Train."

The main trouble seems to have come about through the army requesting the Y. M. C. A. to handle the canteens and investigations already under way are revealing conditions which are shaking the very foundation of the Y. M. C. A.

INJUNCTION SUIT—MILLER VS. STUBB

A squad of orange pickers early yesterday "pitched tents" on the ranch of L. A. Stubb, to gather the golden harvest, but were halted by officers before the task was begun. The work was stopped by the issuance of a temporary injunction in the superior court in a suit instituted by John S. Miller of Upland.

Miller asserted he recently had sold the ranch to Stubb at a price of $16,850, but contended that the new owner had not met the conditions under which the purchase was made.

Both the present and the past owners contend they are entitled to the orange crop, valued at $6000. In addition Miller is demanding damages of $1000 from Stubb.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS AT CONVENTION

On January 28, 29 and 30 there is to be a convention in Ontario of Spiritual Reconstructive Thinkers. The sessions which will be held at 3 and 8 p. m. of each day of the convention, will be in Masonic hall. Prominent men and women of Southern California will give the addresses. The convention is largely to foster and encourage closer communion of the people in religious thought, which the war has engendered by bringing people of all walks of life and of different viewpoints, closer together. Among the speakers will be Rev. Fenwick Holmes, Los Angeles; Harriet Hale Rix, Los Angeles; Mr. Ernest Holmes, Los Angeles; Frank L. Riley, M. D.; Rev.

NEW PLAN ADOPTED AT CHAFFEY UNION

STUDENTS ATTEND SCHOOL TWICE A WEEK BY NEW ARRANGEMENT

First Soldier to Take Course at Chaffey Will Soon Be Here. The Tractor Course Attracting Many from Various Points.

The plans for next week's school is to have all pupils come twice a week, rather than only once a week. This will be managed as follows: A-D on Tuesday and Thursday; E-K on Wednesday and Monday; L-N on Thursday and Tuesday; O-S on Friday and Wednesday, and T-Z Monday and Friday. There has been a fairly good attendance this past week and it is hoped that none will become discouraged and drop out of school. Many young people have taken an entire course outside the classroom and surely Chaffey students can keep up in their work under the supervision and help of the teachers under the present plan.

The tractor course at Chaffey has drawn quite a list of registries from all parts of the country. Many have already made known their intention of taking the course and numbers of these are from towns as widely separated as Banning and Covina.

Girls of the high school are continually being called for by the people of Ontario and Upland to do light housekeeping, sewing, and to take care of children. Chaffey students are taking advantage of these calls and under the supervision of Miss Graves and Miss Granger there are many opportunities offered.

Principal Hill of the high school has just received notice from the Federal Board for Vocational Education, Rehabilitation Division, that they are about to send to Chaffey the first of the men whom they are re-training for civil life. The condition of this man is such that he can engage with profit in truck gardening and poultry raising. Opportunity will be given him for practice in these lines of work at the Chaffey poultry yards and on Chaffey farm south of town. Studies will also be outlined for him at the high school so that he will have opportunity to combine the practical and theoretical in his training here.

A letter from Mr. R. T. Fischer, the district vocational officer asks for printed matter in regard to the courses given at Chaffey with the view to placing other men here who can be best served by this institution. It is expected that men disabled in the service will be sent to Chaffey from time to time. These men are allowed $65 per month for board and expenses and are counted as being in the service of the United States until such time as their re-education is completed.

It is a high honor to the high school and to the community to be thus selected by the government for work of this sort. There will be opportunity through this course for many men to achieve success in life through a knowledge of those subjects which the high school can offer to them.

ENSIGN BURNS IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Ensign Fred A. Burns, who survived the sinking of a submarine chaser upon which he was stationed when it went down in the English Channel some months ago and who returned to his home in Ontario after recovering from severe wounds, is in a serious condition at the San Antonio hospital here as the result of an accident in which his motor-cycle collided with a delivery auto driven by Fred Batchelor at Euclid avenue and Eighth street, Monday.

Burns sustained a deep scalp wound and probably a fractured skull.

Report from San Antonio hospital this morning is to the effect that Mr. Burns is getting along nicely. Mr. Burns was a meter reader for the Ontario Power Co.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES GAS COMPANY WILL LOWER GAS RATE IN NEAR FUTURE

WHEN EVERYTHING SOARS THE GAS COMPANY ANNOUNCES REDUCTION

Rates Will Be Same as Those Now in Pomona and Other Cities Served. Will Affect the Great Majority of Users.

Strange as it may seem, with the price of everything else soaring skyward, present indications are that Upland is going to get a lower rate on her natural gas.

District Agent F. H. Bivens of the Southern Counties Gas company appeared before the city council of Ontario Monday night and requested that the city attorney file papers with the railroad commission asking for the lower rate. Upland's city attorney will probably be requested to do the same thing at the next meeting of the city council.

Bivens stated that the rates which will be put in effect here after the necessary hearing before the state railroad commission has been completed, are the same rates now in effect in Pomona and other cities served by the Southern Counties Gas company.

Although the Ontario-Upland Gas company has been operated by the Southern Counties Gas company for the past year it was only a week ago that the State railroad commission officially endorsed the transfer and the Ontario-Upland company became a part of the larger system.

During that year many complaints were filed because of the difference in rates here and in Pomona, but the company could do nothing as the railroad commission had not officially approved of the transfer of the local company.

The difference between the present rate and the new rate will affect the great majority of users of gas for domestic purposes by cutting their gas bill materially.

Under the present rate domestic users pay $1.25 for the first 1000 feet and $1.00 for the next 2000, 80 cents for the next 3000 and so on. Under the new rate they will pay $1.00 for the first 1000 feet, 80 cents for the next 4000 feet and so on.

The minimum rate will be raised but Bivens pointed out that of 1266 consumers in the month of December, 191 paid the 50 cent minimum and the 1261 paid over $1.25. Over 90 per cent of the people used on an average of 3000 feet a month. This 90 per cent will see a material cut in their gas bill under the new rate. The saving to users of 3000 feet will amount to 55 cents a month.

Rates to users of gas in great quantities, for power purposes under steam boilers will also be cut. The present rate is 40 cents for the first 50,000 feet and 30 cents for the next 150,000 cubic feet. Under the new rate, 35 cents will be charged for the first 100,000 cubic feet and 30 for the next 200,000.

The changes here will put the entire system of the Southern Counties Gas company on a uniform rate.

Bivens explained that the reason the company could cut rates here was because of a recent order of the state railroad commission which studied the rates and ordered a raise in Orange county cities and Long Beach and a reduction in the cities in the eastern end of the system.

Salute to the Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the American Flag;
And the Republic for which it stands;
One Nation, indivisible,
With Liberty and Justice for all."

THAT child who leaves school early to go to work is as assuredly maimed for all time as the soldier who returns wounded from the trenches. Not only does he run the risk of becoming permanently crippled in health by his premature entrance into industry, but he will also find himself heavily handicapped by lack of training when the time comes for him to compete as an adult with skilled labor.

Our armed forces have been fighting a war for democracy. But democracy, to be enduring, must be built upon the solid foundation of a saved and protected childhood. The children of today must carry on this same idea tomorrow. If they are to do this wisely and well, they must be made and kept fit for such important work. The rescue of children from the kind of exploitation that stunts their growth, cripples their health, and perverts their general development can be best accomplished by keeping them in school until they have been sufficiently educated or trained to become workers and good citizens.

The value of school scholarships in combating the tendency of boys and girls to leave school for a temporary financial advantage has been clearly recognized, both here and in foreign countries.

Scotland has for several years past granted scholarships (or bursaries) from the public funds. England, too, is recommending this method of providing for the better education of her young.

In this country, up to now, scholarship funds have been made up of private contributions, privately administered. Already a good many communities have begun to realize the importance of salvaging the local talent that might otherwise be permanently lost to the world through complete lack of educational opportunity.

Results obtained in cities where the scholarship plan has been tried out proves that the saving of this potential child power constitutes a community investment that steadily increases in value as the child grows up and becomes a trained and efficient worker.

Comparison of the wages of 51 children who had quit school at the age of 14 years to go to work with the wages of an equal number of children who through scholarships were enabled to stay in school for two years longer, shows that, after three years of wage earning, the average wage of the child who remained in school until he was 16 was two and one-third times that of the child who had left school at the age of 14.

The difference in earning power simply means that those earning the higher wages were more efficient and proficient than the boys who lost that two years of education. The argument is as plain as a pikestaff. Some plan ought to be devised which would keep all of them in school, and if the plan of public scholarships will accomplish it, then we need it. The plan is certainly worthy the consideration of those people in any community who are interested not only in child welfare, but in better citizenship, which must be based upon education.—San Bernardino Sun.

THE speech delivered by Mr. C. H. Cahan, K. C., at Montreal, recently, on socialistic propaganda in Canada, showed clearly that the Canadian Director of Public Safety has gauged the problem lying before the country in regard to the future of labor with welcome exactness. Mr. Cahan did not attempt to trace the present unrest in Canada to any one exclusive cause. He saw clearly that it was due to many causes, and whilst he gave that particular doctrine which for lack of a better word may be called Bolshevism, the foremost place as a promoter of discord, he saw clearly that the question really went much deeper than that. Bolshevism in Canada, as generally admitted, is of a peculiar vicious type, and a peculiarly insidious propaganda has been carried on in the Dominion ever since the beginning of the war. Tens of thousands of dollars have been spent on printing presses and on literature in all languages, calculated to promote discord, and to try to prevent the government using the full weight of the country in the war. The result of all this is, in the opinion of Mr. Cahan, that the present state of intellectual unrest is as great as has ever been known in the history of the Dominion.

As has been said, however, Mr. Cahan does not fall into the error of hanging up the whole question of labor unrest on the Bolshevik peg. He recognizes that before the war, and before Bolshevism was heard or thought of, there had been a growing unrest in the ranks of labor. The fact of the matter is, of course, that whilst, as Mr. Cahan did not fail to note, the passage of centuries has brought about laws for the regulation of all dealings of man with man, there has thus far been formulated no generally accepted basis for arbitrating fairly between employer and employee. Under a proper system of laws dealing with the affairs of workman and employer there would be no reason for strikes or lockouts. It would promote trust, and the first essential of a proper system of conciliation and arbitration is that it should promote trust, and take away from the workman that lack of confidence which is characteristic of the position today. This is, indeed, the crux of the whole difficulty. Those who have had practical intercourse with labor; who are not dependent merely upon theories, but have mingled with the workingman and striven to understand his point of view, cannot fail to have been impressed with the fact that many of the labor difficulties which confront the world are the result of lack of confidence as between employer and employee. Wherever any employer has succeeded in establishing this confidence, difficulties are practically unknown.

Confidence, indeed, must be secured at all costs, and one of the surest ways of securing it is by the promotion, in every way possible, of a free interchange of views between employer and employee. Some such system is, of course, already in operation in the United Kingdom, in the form of what is known as the Whitley Committees; and all the reports, thus far available, show that the meetings, provided for under this scheme, of employers and employee are productive in every case of the utmost good. Meanwhile, until such a scheme, or its equivalent, is available in Canada, Mr. Cahan is, of course, fully justified in emphasizing the obvious, as he did when he declared in the course of his address in Montreal, that the remedy for the admitted wrongs of labor lay "in conciliation and arbitration, and certainly not in revolution."—Christian Science Monitor.

GOVERNMENT NEEDS HUNDREDS OF ACCOUNTANTS

The war is practically ended but war work is not. The tremendous labor of the details of adjusting the accounts and paying the bills will occupy the time of a large force for many months to come. The ordnance department of the Army alone is in need of 200 senior cost accountants at entrance salaries ranging from $2200 to $4200 a year; 300 junior cost accountants at entrance salaries ranging from $1200 to $2000 a year; and 300 clerks qualified in accounting at entrance salaries ranging from $1000 to $1800 a year for service at ordnance establishments throughout the United States and in the headquarters at Washington, D. C.

The collection of the income tax also calls for the employment of an additional number of accountants. The income tax unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue is in need of a number of traveling auditors and resident auditors at entrance salaries ranging from $1800 to $4500 a year.

All of these positions are open to both men and women.

The United States Civil Service Commission is receiving applications for these positions. Applicants will not be required to report at any place for examination, but will be rated upon their physical ability, education, training and experience, based upon the sworn statements in their applications and upon corroborative evidence adduced by the commission. Application blanks and full information may be obtained from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the post-office or customhouse in any city, or by communicating with the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

THE NEW BULLETINS

The latest example of the tail wagging the dog is furnished by the United States department of agriculture. This tremendous organization, built up ponderously from a great number of ill-fitting units and strongly bound round with red tape, recently found itself being left behind by the very farmers whom it was supposed to lead and advise. That its awakening to its true sphere of usefulness has been thoroughly accomplished, however, is indicated by the fact that the department is now working more with than at American food producers. Instead of sending stiff-collared, desk-trained experts to tell the farmers, who invariably resented the intrusion, how to conduct their business, the department has established a far-reaching plan involving the very cooperation which it preaches to the farmers and based on the county agent system. This system brings about cooperation between county and state through the state university, and thus by taking into account the state university, connects the entire system in the most logical manner with the department at Washington. More field work and less desk work is another noteworthy sign of the times.

But perhaps the best indication of how the great federal machine has had to tighten its bearings, oil its gears, and speed up its wheels in order to keep up with American farmers, is the change in form of the government bulletins.

The 1000th bulletin was recently issued. Instead of being a dreary, uninteresting, unattractive treatise of 75 or 100 pages, couched in Latin and technical terms and dripping with learned advice given in a patronizing manner, the new type of bulletin is a readable, attractively illustrated, condensed text-book, including not only reports of the work of the department's experts but also accounts of the practices and discoveries of practical farmers. Thus the bulletin has become the instrument of a "clearing house," for passing along the good methods successfully used in one section of the country to farmers in other sections.

The best thing perhaps about a democratic form of government is the opportunity that it gives for individual advancement and expression; this very force tends to prevent the establishment of arbitrary, hide-bound government agencies. That branch of our government which is hopelessly behind the times and fails to recognize the fact will inevitably, sooner or later, be cast into the discard. Fortunately for the department and, we may add in all fairness, for American agriculture, this important bureau finally came under the control of far-sighted men who switched its activities upon the right track before it met disaster.

It is a great and important institution and now that the tremendous importance of food-production has been so strikingly brought out by war famine it is destined to become even more influential.

Probably never again (and we say it in all respect and thankfulness) will the department of agriculture approach so near to the brink of oblivion as it did during the "dark ages" just left behind.—Orchard and Farm.

Miss Mary McCord is now about recovered after a siege with the flu.

Mrs. W. H. Horst will be hostess to the Alta Loma Bridge club on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Fleet and family are on the road to recovery after a tussle with the flu.

Miss Bessie Stipe was home from the Normal school in Los Angeles for the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stipe.

Paul Chafe, of the U. S. Aviation Corps, arrived in New York from France last week, reaching his old home town, Cucamonga, last Thursday. His brother, Roy Chafe, of the U. S. C., Los Angeles, accompanied him out from the city. The young men looked splendidly in their natty uniforms of the Flying Corps and the U. S. Navy.

Karl Powellson, also of the Aviation Corps, has received his honorable discharge from the army and is at home again.

Mrs. Chas. Harris and daughter, Miss Alice, are both confined to their home with influenza this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cy Atencio are reported ill with the flu at their home on West Eighth street.

Miss Naomi Hawkey was quite indisposed last week and confined to her home in Alta Loma. She is back in school again this week, having recovered from her attack of tonsillitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Perris, who have been occupying the old Stephens home on Archibald avenue, have been worried over the severe illness of their three little girls; the second child is now about recovered, but the baby is still very ill with something like brain fever.

Private Samuel C. Whitson returned Saturday from Camp Meade, Md., having been mustered out. For the past several months Private Whitson has been in the Eastern cantonments and was about to leave for overseas service at the signing of the armistice.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Thorpe, formerly of Alta Loma, now of Los Angeles, were interested to note in last Sunday's Times an excellent photograph of their little girl Betty-Ann, as recently exhibited at the Second International Photographic Salon at Exposition Park, Los Angeles. The photographic pictures of both the little miss and her mother, posed as the "War Widow," are the work of the artist Louis Fleckenstein, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kincaid are in receipt of word from their sister, Mrs. Arthur S. Guthrie, who has been in New York for some time caring for her husband who had been stricken with the pneumonia while on a government mission, is to the effect that she has recovered from her recent attack of the influenza and able to leave the hospital. As soon as word is received from Washington, she expects to leave for her home in San Bernardino, while Col. Guthrie will be accompanied to some of the military camps, possibly Camp Kearney, by special attendants, where he will remain until fully convalescent.

In the Shadow

The many friends of Stephen J. Spangler, well known here for the past fourteen years, and a son-in-law of William Araiza, will be shocked to hear of his death from Spanish influenza at the San Bernardino hospital last Thursday, after a brief illness of only four days. The deceased is survived by a widow, Mrs. Rosa Araiza Spangler. The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Bellevue cemetery, the Rev. E. T. Sandford, of Ontario, officiating. The family have the deep sympathy of a host of friends in their bereavement.

Red Cross Notes

Executive officers of the Cucamonga chapter held a committee meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Reid for the transaction of various matters of business.

W. A. Allen, of San Francisco, field representative of the Pacific Division, American Red Cross, paid an official visit to the Cucamonga officials last Thursday, taking up with them several matters, such as the Red Cross service badges, the work of "Americanization," and local problems confronting the Red Cross in the demobilization of the troops, etc.

Mrs. Marie Moeller, in charge of the knitting department, reports a clean-up in the knitting work, and as all knitting has been called in at headquarters, any one having any knitting, whether finished or unfinished, for the Red Cross, is asked to please bring or send it in to the local work rooms this Friday afternoon, so that the shipment can be made at once to San Francisco.

Cucamonga chapter was proud to note that special mention was made in this month's American Red Cross periodical of chapter chatter and activities, of our youngest and first member of the Christmas Roll Cal, Little Miss Mary Louise Davenport. An error was made, however, as to the location, the article stating Yucaipa, a branch of Redlands, instead of Cucamonga, and the error will undoubtedly be corrected in the next issue, attention having been called to same.

Entertained With 500

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Redmon entertained their 500 club at their home on West Fourth street Saturday evening. The spacious living rooms were prettily decorated with greenery and after the card tournament a dainty lunch was served. The honors of the card game were awarded to J. I. Avery and Mrs. G. L. Winter, while the consolations fell to Mr. G. I. Winter and Mrs. Jas. Peterson. Present were the club members, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. I. Winter, Mr. and Mrs. John I. Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Redmon, and invited guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Bowman of Upland, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts, Alta Loma, and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bishop.

Cucamonga Woman's Club

Taking for the afternoon's program, as their theme of study and discussion, that which is at this time so much in the public eye and mind, "Americanization," the Cucamonga Woman's Club held an unusually interesting session last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Klusman, who was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. W. J. Kincaid. "Americanization" as applied in our civil life, our educational and religious institutions, and in all its various phases, from the United States courts down to child welfare and its local application, formed the basis for a lively discussion. As an appropriate and patriotic tribute to the passing of one of America's greatest men, Mrs. H. L. Salisbury gave an interesting talk on the ideals and the Americanism of the late Colonel

Theodore Roosevelt, followed by a reading on "Americanization," Roosevelt's farewell words to the American people, by Mrs. E. S. Bishop. "Americanization" in our schools was taken up by Mrs. J. H. Williams, Miss Gertrude Reid and Miss Kate Molsinger.

Mrs. W. A. Lucas gave an interesting talk on her work when teacher in the Arizona schools and her work among the Mexican Indians. Mrs. A. H. Bridge gave an animated reading on the mustering in of our aliens at the beginning of the war. At the close of the program, the hostesses served dainty refreshments of cake and coffee. The next meeting will be held January 30 at the home of Mrs. A. C. Beattie, and the program will be on "Americanization," and it is hoped that the county superintendent of schools, Mrs. Grace Stanley, will be able to be present and give one of her most interesting and instructive talks along this line of work, in which she is interested.

Death of Mr. Demens

The community was greatly shocked last Tuesday to hear of the sudden death of P. A. Demens, who passed away at his home on North Archibald avenue, early Tuesday morning. Mr. Demens had been ailing for some time, but the end came unexpectedly.

Real Estate Activity

The Cucamonga Water company, through the Cucamonga Investment company, have just completed a sale of forty acres of land in the old Hellman tract, to John Klusman, the land lying south of the highway and west of the L. A. Weller tract. Also, to Edwin Molsinger, 15 acres of land, north of the highway, near the Red Hill, and including the old landmark, the ancient brick hotel. Mr. Molsinger plans to set his new holdings out to citrus fruits.

Etiwanda

Happenings Here and There Gathered by a News Special Representative in and About the Famous Etiwanda Colony

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Henderson, Matilda, Louise, Inez and Jesse went to Santa Ana last week and were guests over night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Porter, cousins of Mr. Henderson. Returning by way of Arcadia they visited at the home of Mrs. Nye before returning to Etiwanda.

Mr. Fred Henderson left Saturday morning for Little Rock where he is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair.

Marjorie Tilden was able to return to school this week.

William Pearson was an Etiwanda visitor for the week-end, returning Sunday evening to March Field.

Earl Henderson spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Henderson, returning to March Field Sunday evening.

Mrs. George E. Utman, president of the local Red Cross organization, has not as yet received instructions concerning the giving of certificates and pins to those ladies who have worked 800 or more hours for the Red Cross. There is a long list of Etiwanda women who will receive this honor whenever their turn comes.

During the absence of Mr. George E. Utman at Adelanto, Mrs. Utman's mother, Mrs. Codd, of Riverside, is staying at the Utman home. Mrs. Codd's many friends here are enjoying the opportunity of an excellent visit while she is here.

Sylvanus Kemp is suffering from the effects of an accident with his Christmas bicycle. While riding to school on it one day last week his coaster brake stuck and as he was riding down hill and going rather fast he was thrown forward, over the handlebars, breaking his collar bone. Sylvanus has been rather unfortunate in the way of broken bones, having been laid up with a broken leg once not so very long ago. He is getting along very nicely at the present writing, although still unable to attend school.

Perry Orendorff was injured last week when his team ran away while he was hauling a load of empty boxes from the packing house to an orange grove. The wind was blowing hard and the load upset, frightening the team. His face was cut badly enough that it required sewing. He was able to continue work, however.

The many friends of Cyrus McClean were very anxious about him when word went around that he was the latest victim of the prevailing illness, as Cyrus has been very ill twice with pneumonia it was feared he might be very sick. His is proving to be one of the lighter cases, however, and with Dr. Weber in attendance and the best of care he is practically as well as ever although remaining in until all danger is past. Miss Louella McClean, whose work is in Upland, did not come home when it was found that Cyrus was ill, but is remaining with Upland friends until danger of contagion is over.

Mr. George E. Utman returned Sunday afternoon to Adelanto, Cal.

after a brief visit with his wife and son, Alfred Utman and family. Mr. Utman is making Adelanto his headquarters while superintending the construction of a highway in the desert. He finds the nights very cold, but says the days there are very warm and fine. An extra coat of tan that he has put on since taking the work seems to indicate that the sun is shining occasionally in that region.

Miss Mae Orendorff had an operation at San Antonio hospital, Thursday evening for the removal of her appendix. Miss Orendorff was well at the time, but had several slight attacks of appendicitis and preferred to have the operation at some time when she was in good condition rather than as a last resort when she might have a serious attack. As a result she is doing splendidly, has no fever and is making a rapid recovery. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Orendorff and son Perry are frequent visitors at the hospital in Upland.

Mrs. William I. Bacon and children have been suffering with influenza for several days past and on Tuesday Mr. Bacon was taken sick. Even with a light form of the disease the situation is rather serious when an entire family is sick at once, and the Basons have the sympathy, if not the more practical assistance of their neighbors, who in many cases are in a position to really sympathize.

Mrs. Ed Lovelace of Los Angeles spent last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Orendorff. Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace are former Kansas friends of the Orendorff family who have come to California to live.

In the family of Jack Scott all the members are able to be out with the exception of Mr. Scott and Roger. Little Roger had a more serious case than the others, and Mr. Scott, who has had pneumonia, is being very cautious, as he should be, about getting out too soon.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brownless are all able to be about now. Miss Catherine has been making a very slow recovery but hopes to be able to attend Chaffey her one day a week in the near future.

The members of the Charles Wood family who have been so ill are all recovering.

Erwin and Evelyn Koch were able to go back to school this week, and Mrs. Fred Koch's friends will be glad to know that she is able to go about the house again after her second siege.

Wedding Bells—

Mr. Jacob Heitzenreder and Mrs. Mamie Smith were united in marriage at the home of the bride, 158 Ninth avenue, last Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, Rev. Charles A. Kent officiating. Following the simple ring ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

Those present were Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, mother of the bride, Mrs. A. Cosner of Los Angeles, Mrs. Glen Wiley and Miss Viola Wiley of Los Angeles, Master Herbert Smith of Jacksonville, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fies of Upland.

The bride, Mrs. Mamie Smith, with her son, Herbert, has lived until recently in Jacksonville, Ill. Dillon and Thomas Heitzenreder, sons of the groom, are in the U. S. Navy. Dillon is on the U. S. S. Standon, and Thomas is on the U. S. S. Artizar. They are looking forward with delight to the welcome that awaits them in the long broken but now re-instituted home.

After a short trip to the beach towns Mr. and Mrs. Heitzenreder are now at home, 164 Ninth avenue, Upland.

Hartley-Mills—

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at four o'clock last Monday afternoon at 1251 Luiden avenue, the Long Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mills, when their daughter, Lois, became the bride of Gifford M. Hartley, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hartley, of this city. The Rev. S. S. Sampson officiated at the wedding, using the double ring ceremony. Miss Helen Hartley, sister of the groom, played the wedding march. The bride was gowning in a charming white crepe de chine and Georgette frock and carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses and fern. Miss Mills and Mr. Hartley were classmates at Chaffey Union, and graduated together in 1914. Mr. Hartley is now sergeant instructor of a machine gun company in the Marine Corps, and is stationed at Quantico, Va. Miss Mills and her parents formerly resided in Ontario but moved to Long Beach some years ago. Following the wedding a luncheon was served, and amid good wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Hartley left for a motor trip thru Southern California. Mr. Hartley leaves next week for Quantico, and Mrs. Hartley will reside with her parents at Long Beach until her husband receives his discharge, when they plan to settle in California. Besides the immediate relatives of the young couple, Miss Ruby Mehl was a wedding guest and Gordon Paxson, a friend of the groom and formerly in the same military company until ill health caused his discharge. He is now instructor at the Army and Navy Academy at Pasadena. Many congratulations follow Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Hartley, both of whom are well known in the colony and their friends are looking forward to the time when they will be among them again.

Library Club—

The regular meeting of the Library club is scheduled for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Pomona public library. Any one interested in library work is cordially invited to attend. Each one attending is asked to bring a box lunch, the members of the Pomona staff will serve a hot drink.

The program will consist of a talk on "Organization of a High School Library" and the duty of the library in Americanization work.

Ex. Board Meeting at Redlands—

The regular monthly meeting of the San Bernardino County Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the Contemporary Club house in Redlands on Tuesday, the 21st. The board was called to order by the president, Mrs. Florence Dodson-Schoneman, at 2:15. Following the minutes of the last meeting, a report of the work in each club for the rest of the year was given by each president or her appointee. Mrs. Schoneman advised the clubs to each hold a jollification meeting as soon as possible, as she feels it a duty that each club woman owes herself to relax following the past year's work.

In the report from Mrs. Batchelor, who had charge of the Christmas boxes for the old men at the county hospital, it was suggested that the club women of the county hold themselves in readiness to do this work for those confined there. Upland Woman's club furnished and filled ten of the boxes even though there have been no meetings of the club for this year.

The announcement of a combination board meeting and nominating committee, to be held at Colton, the third Tuesday of March practically closed the business for the day. The members of the Contemporary club most delightfully served tea to the twenty-five in attendance.

Mrs. F. H. Manker, second vice-president of the County Federation of Women's Clubs, was the only representative from Upland.

MOST ACCURATE WAY OF TESTING A TUBE

"The most accurate way of testing a tube in order to judge as to the quality of rubber it contains is to deflate it and place it in a tub of water," asserted an official of the Norwalk tire and tube factory. "If the tube is made of a very high percentage of pure gum, that is, over 95 per cent, it will float but if it does not float is a sure sign that it contains compounded rubber or inferior material."

"It is to the car owner's interest to select the very finest quality tubes obtainable. A poor tube is invariably the cause of tire blowouts and other troubles. While it may cost a few cents more to select the better grade it is good policy as the tube will wear longer and serve as a better protection to the casing."

"Norwalk tires were the first introduced on the market which contained over 95 per cent pure gum."

INCOME TAX

If you made an inventory of animals, crops, products and supplies on hand December 31, 1916, and December 31, 1917, enter the amount of both inventories on the return. You may include in such inventories live stock, crops, etc., produced on the farm. Live stock purchased for draft, breeding or dairy purposes, or for any purpose other than re-sale, may be included in the inventory at a figure which will reflect the reduction in value estimated to have occurred through age or other causes. Such a reduction in value should be based on the cost and estimated life of the stock. The opening and closing inventories must cover exactly the same classes of items. The opening inventory must be the same figure as the closing inventory of the year before.

If inventories are used, losses of live stock bought for resale, or of any other articles included in your inventories, are not deductible as such losses will be reflected in the inventories.

What to Report as Income

All income from whatever source derived, must be included in this return, except the items enumerated below, under "Receipts exempt from tax."

Only income actually received need be included, but this does not mean that the taxpayer must receive cash. Anything of value received instead of cash must be considered income to the extent of its cash value. Any income received by your wife or dependent children under eighteen must be included in the return, unless wife or child make a separate return.

Receipts Exempt From Tax

The following classes of receipts are exempt from income tax, and need not be reported:

1. Salaries, wages, etc., received from states and political divisions thereof, such as cities, counties, townships.
2. Gifts, not made as a consideration for service rendered, and legacies (but the income derived from money or property received as a gift or legacy is taxable and must be reported.)
3. Interest on bonds of the United States issued before September 1, 1917, and on bonds issued since that date, provided no more than $500 worth are owned.
4. Interest on bonds of United States possessions (Philippines, Porto Rico, Canal Zone.)
5. Interest on bonds of states and political subdivisions thereof, such as cities, counties and townships.
6. Interest on federal farm loan bonds.
7. Proceeds of life insurance policies paid on the death of the insured, and payments to policyholders under endowment and similar policies, provided such payments do not exceed the premiums paid in. The amount by which such payments exceed the premiums paid in is income and must be reported.

Deductions
Report as deductions only amounts actually paid out in carrying on your business. Do not deduct personal or family expenses.

Taxes—Do not deduct inheritance or estate taxes, federal income tax, drainage taxes, or taxes for any improvement or betterment. Be ready to show tax receipts, if possible.

Insurance—Do not deduct premiums for insurance on dwelling you occupy, or life insurance premiums.
Labor—Do not deduct amounts paid to your own minor children unless you also report such payments in section B (page 4) as income to them (which must be included in your income). Do not deduct amounts paid to persons engaged in work in or around your dwelling.

RALPH F. WILLIAMS

To those who knew Ralph F. Williams, a former member of Chaffey Union high school faculty, his death will be a shock, having died in Berkeley January 15th, 1919, of pneumonia, adding to the sadness of the death of the little son, Paul Forester, who died on New Year's day, while both father and mother were seriously ill. The mother is still very sick and has been removed to a private sanitarium, where at last word she was somewhat better.

Mr. Williams was born in Percival, Iowa, July 7th, 1884. He leaves four sisters and one brother, Mrs. W. A. Mullen, Madelia, Minn.; Mrs. Myrtle K. Darling, Baton Rouge, La.; Mrs. Geo. W. Somes, Percival, Iowa; Miss Ethel Williams, Oklahoma, Okla.; Mrs. Roscoe S. Williams, Oklahoma, Okla.; an aunt, Miss Elizabeth Forester, Tabor, Iowa. The cousins are Miss Clara Williams, Mrs. Trunkfield, R. C. Williams, Glenn R. Williams of Upland, H. S. Williams, of Porterville, Delos Williams, Waverly, Kansas; Fred W. Williams, Champagne, France; Curtis Williams, Chicago; also a niece, Mrs. C. W. Thompson, resides in San Francisco, where her husband is in the army at the Presidio.

Mr. Williams passed away at the home of his wife's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Urner, 1799 Walnut street, Berkeley. After leaving Chaffey, Mr. and Mrs. Williams purchased a 20-acre fruit ranch near San Jose, where a little more than one and a half years of happiness and hard work were spent. Services were conducted Saturday, January 18th, at 10:30 by Rev. Ralph B. Larkin, who was a former pastor at Bethel Congregational church, Ontario.

ETIWANDA ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Baldwin, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Fetrow, and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burger went to Long Beach a few days ago to visit for a time with Mr. Baldwin's sister, Mrs. Clark, and family.

Miss Marjorie Frost had a light case of influenza last week and was able to be about when Mrs. G. E. Frost and little daughters were taken sick. All are doing nicely with the exception of little Harriet, who has been threatened with pneumonia although at this time it is thought she may get through without being so seriously ill.

Mr. G. T. Liddle, of Sawtelle, came in Thursday to spend a nine-day furlough with his daughter, Mrs. W. L. Troyer, and family, and his son, Mr. Robert Liddle. He attended church Sunday morning and greeted many Etiwanda friends who were glad to see him looking so well.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Smith are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brown of Billings, Oklahoma, at their home here. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were former neighbors of the Smiths in Oklahoma.

Mr. Samuel Smith, Mr. L. H. Daniel and Mr. William Hayton of Ontario left the last of the week for an automobile trip to Stockton, Cal.

Mr. S. W. Gebhart of Oakland spent Sunday night here at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. T. Myers.

The T. H. C. club met Thursday evening at the home of Alexander and Gordon Allen. Owing to the illness of several members the attendance was small.

Miss Wilson led an interesting session of Christian Endeavor on Sunday evening, the subject being "Repentance." In the series of meetings on "Our Relation to God." Miss Dorothy Spence played a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Bessie Troyer. Misses Ethel Bilyeu and Isabel Smith each read a story in connection with the evening's program.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Werner and daughter Eleanor spent Sunday in Lytle Creek canyon where they had luncheon at noon.

Rev. W. L. Troyer chaperoned a crowd of young people who attended the senior play at the San Bernardino high school auditorium Friday evening. "Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh" was very cleverly given by the high school cast. Misses Hazel Cour, Bessie Troyer and Isabel Smith and Jesse and Gifford Troyer made up the party.

Attendance in the grammar grades picked up a little during last week, nine influenza victims getting back during the week. It is thought the worst is over here and it is quite probable the school will remain open.

The pupils of the Etiwanda school are planning a bazaar to be given February 8th for the benefit of the Junior Red Cross. The girls in the sewing classes are busy making articles for the sale and some of the ladies of the community have been solicited for fancy and useful articles to be sold at the bazaar. A number of booths are being arranged for and the children hope to realize a considerable amount for the Red Cross.

Victor Johnson who has many friends here writes a letter from Germany early in December to an Etiwanda acquaintance. His travels have taken him through France, Belgium and Luxembourg, and his experiences have been varied, but he still thinks the United States is best of all.

A pleasant shower Monday morning brightened up the foliage in the colony, and while it was not nearly as useful as a soaking rain would be at this time, was much better than nothing. It is probable that more rain fell higher up, which will benefit us later, and anyway, it shows a tendency to get into shape to rain during the orange show, at which season we always expect all the rain we need.

The Pacific Electric Railway company is busy getting ready for a rain which may come sometime, by putting in a long dam to turn the water that comes down from San Servaine through the wash just east of Etiwanda in such quantities as to make the track unsafe. Several times in past years it has been impossible to bring cars in across this place and it has been unpleasant walking for the passengers, who had to tread gingerly across the slippery bridge while the dirty flood waters splashed up around the ties. Mr.

Richard Merrill of Etiwanda is helping the Pacific Electric this week, hauling out timbers for the dam.

Mr. Frank Rowe of Los Angeles visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Myers Wednesday.

Miss Elizabeth Dillard, of Charleston, Tenn., who has been expected for some time by her relatives here, arrived Sunday and is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. E. Pierce on Etiwanda avenue. She will visit Mrs. Pierce and her brothers, James and Samuel Dillard, of Etiwanda and Oscar Dillard of San Bernardino, for a time, and if she likes it as well as she expects to here she will settle in Etiwanda for her permanent home.

The Parent Teacher association has had so little to do this year that they had almost forgotten they were in existence. It has been impossible to get together for a meeting of the association, but the president, Mrs. C. W. Greenlee, with the help of some of the members, is getting a quilt put together to sell at the Junior Red Cross bazaar in February. The blocks of the quilt were made by the Juniors under the direction of Mrs. Fred Koch who out and planned the quilt for the little girls who pieced it. Mrs. C. W. Greenlee is now giving the blocks out to various P. T. A. members to be set together, after which there will be a comfort tying party to finish it up before the sale.

Mrs. Clarke, on West 4th street, who had had the distinction for several years of being Etiwanda's oldest inhabitant, is taking a back seat these days, with her ninety-odd years, for an aged Mexican who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Dorame. While he claims to be only 105 years old, his relatives claim 109 years for him, and the dates he gives to prove he is 105 add up to 109, so his relatives, are probably correct. He has lived in the United States since 1835 and is able to tell all about that period of his life. He is active and well, is always busy about something and looks as if he might live for several years more, in spite of the high cost of living and flu epidemics.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Henderson and Miss Matilda Henderson motored to La Habra Wednesday and spent the day with friends of Mrs. Herman Henderson.

Miss Roberta Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson, left Wednesday for San Bernardino for a visit with her aunt, Mrs. James Anderson.

Mrs. Mamie Cour spent Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. C. W. Greenlee.

Gerald Cour, Bob Hutchings and Henry Dodge motored to San Bernardino Tuesday evening to see "The Greatest Thing in Life."

An automobile load of the Chaffey high school students went from here to attend the game at Redlands Tuesday afternoon. They say it was a good game even if Chaffey did lose.

A number of people have begun to irrigate citrus fruit, although other ranchers think their soil is still in good condition to wait a little longer for a rain.

CALIFORNIA AT THE CHICAGO INTERNATIONAL

California beef cattle lived up to the reputation they have been establishing during the past five years at the International Live Stock Exposition that has just closed at Chicago. University of California Jock 3d was reserve champion pure-bred Aberdeen-Angus steer, being beaten only by the Purdue university pure-bred Aberdeen-Angus that was made champion steer of the show. Another U. of C. "Doddie" that won a place was California Leader, third junior yearling. The steer Jock is closely related to the steer that dressed the high record percentage of 71.8 a few years ago after winning steer grand championship over all breeds at the California state fair three years in succession.

The grand champion steer of the show will be served at the peace table in France, having been sold to a Chicago packer for the record price of $2.50 a pound on the hoof. This is the eleventh Aberdeen-Angus single steer victory. The climates of California and Florida were to receive a test for beef making had a steer from the "southeast corner" showed, but though entered it did not appear at the show.

Four out of five of the inter-bred grand championships went to Aberdeen-Angus steers, the Herefords winning the carlot over the blacks for the first time in fifteen years. Aberdeen-Angus fat steers having won 13 out of 16 grand championships before this show. While no California carlots of steers were entered, leading stockmen from the Golden State say that there will be a strong entry next year. Colorado won the feeder carlot grand championship, repeating last year's victory with Aberdeen-Angus calves.

Boys' and girls' grand champion calf was found in an Illinois Aberdeen-Angus, this being the first year for this grand championship. Steer herd of three went to a trio of Iowa-bred "Doddies" very closely related to the great little herd of Aberdeen-Angus at the California college farm at Davis. This made the Aberdeen-Angus victories 12 out of 15 in this class, no such classification being made the first two shows.

In the carcass class, where the steers are judged first on the hoof, then on the blocks and hooks after slaughter, the Aberdeen-Angus question, "What's under the hide?" received the same answer the packer experts have returned at every International held since 1900. This dusky victory makes the breed standing on grand championships for carcass the Bryan slogan of 16-to-1.

A load of the Aberdeen-Angus bulls that are now doing service in California attracted considerable attention in the "Doddie Movie" at the annual meeting of the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association. These were bought from Congdon & Battles, Yakima, Washington, and were shipped to California ranches last summer. Mr. O. W. Battles, who was attending the show after returning from California recently, states that California would become a beef cattle paradise in the next decade because of its luxuriant forage and long season of open grazing.

CITRUS CULTURE — BEGINNERS' HINTS

Hundreds are each year added to the number who grow oranges, lemons or other citrus fruits. Part of this number come from our own residents and the remainder are newcomers drawn from every state in the Union. Few of the whole number are well informed as to the basic needs of one who contemplates entering this field of industry. Much of what is written is too academic in character or written on the assumption that the reader knows at least the first rudiments of citrus culture. We have need of a more elementary treatise on the subject.

Few who write make note of soil selection, and information on this phase of the matter is not needed by those who know something of this gigantic industry, but all novices are confronted by the question: What soils are best adapted to the growth of citrus trees? As a rule soil is not a serious problem, for some citrus fruits will grow on a great range of soils. No soil is too heavy if the drainage through the upper three feet is good. Sand and gravel only are to be avoided, yet splendid trees and good fruits may be grown in sand if heavily fed with fertilizer and organic matter is worked into the soil from the first year of planting; but on such soils citrus fruits will never prove a commercial success. Planting to suit the soil is a matter of selection of the proper variety of fruit.

The Washington navel thrives on the heaviest soils and does fairly well on very light soils. The same may almost be said of the Valencia late, but this sort is often a commercial success on soils too light for Washington navels and, per contra, is not so profitable on the heaviest soils. The latter is, however, but a matter of coloring, the eating quality being in no wise affected. Valencia late on heavy adobe soil generally turn green during midsummer, though of beautiful color in early spring. These green oranges are excellent for eating purposes but unmarketable.

The selection of land for citrus orchards should rest on climate rather than on quality of soil, for man has been overbold in selection of location. Year by year new plantings slip farther and farther down toward the valley floors. Then comes a destructive frost and cuts off all the frontier orchards. For a few years this misfortune remains a check on planting in the stricken sections. Finally, emboldened by several years without hard frosts, a few courageous souls creep down toward the lower levels. If more favorable years ensue this extension becomes universal and so continues until General Jack Frost again drives them back to their former position.

In hot interior valleys the Washington navel is unquestionably the sort to grow. In the cooler coastal sections, where lemons thrive best, the Valencia will prove more successful. In heated sections lemons may produce a good winter crop, but the summer fruits will be few; therefore lands not far removed from the cooling ocean breezes are best adapted to lemon culture. Pomeelos or grapefruit will endure as much heat as any of the family, but are more tender than the leaders among oranges and on a parity with lemons for hardiness. Of all oranges the Satsuma Unshiu, or Onshiu, is the hardiest of the better varieties, and those who would slip down the slopes, past the danger line for navels and Valencias, are advised to confine their plantings to this hardy variety.

We have sought to make it plain to all that climate is far more of a serious consideration, even in the more favored parts of California, than is the question of soils. As all citrus orchards must be irrigated it is of the first importance that land be even or smooth. It matters not if the land be level or on a ten per cent slope; it should have no uneven spots, for ease of irrigation depends on this more than on grade or slope. This is the most particular piece of work connected with citrus culture. If serious doubt exists as to where water will flow it is well to plow a few furrows and test the smoothness of your plane. Such preliminary work may save you from much labor and expense that would ensue if land is not uniform in surface. After a smooth, even face has been obtained the soil should be stirred as deeply as it is possible to go. A subsoiler should follow the plow especially if the soil be heavy. If an underlying impervious hardpan is present it will be better to use dynamite for every tree hole. No matter how excellent your soil the plowing should not be less than a foot deep. After plowing it should be harrowed until it is smooth, without clods, for a smooth surface will greatly facilitate the work of laying off the orchard for planting.

The question of how many trees to the acre is an interesting one and also very important. A common distance for the more popular citrus trees is 24 feet apart on the square system or method. This will give 75 trees to the acre. Practice varies as to distances with all sorts of fruits, and again, variety sometimes dictates. If one were growing kumquats, ten or twelve feet is far enough apart. Satsumas will have room enough at 16 feet apart. Twenty-two feet is a favorite distance for the navel, but Valencias, lemons, and pomeelos, or grapefruits, should never be placed closer than 24 feet apart. At the latter distance you will have 64 trees to the acre, and at 22 feet your navels would number 90 to the acre. By using the equilateral triangular method one would get 103 navels to the acre, but the square method of planting continues the most favored. After the distances have been decided upon the positions should be designated by substantial stakes. The rows should be perfectly straight and each tree precisely the same distance from its four nearest neighbors. Then will the trees line in every direction and the appearance of the orchard be satisfying and attractive to all beholders. All are aware that for economic reasons rows of trees should be straight, but instances are known where sales have not been effected merely because rows were crooked. When you are ready for planting dig the tree holes and do not be stingy in the amount of soil removed. It is best to dig them at least two feet deep and a like distance across. If bare roots are planted it matters not how deep the holes at planting time. But balled trees will settle if the loose soil is deep. Therefore it is advisable to fill in part of the soil if holes are deep, and if soil is damp and easily compacted, tread it down solid or run a little water in each hole if convenient. Remember that after planting you can never get under a tree to loosen the soil, therefore dig your holes deep and wide.

is loosened and pulverized with a hoe after each cultivation. Our orchard is now properly planted and started on its way to commercial success, and if any further advice or admonition is needed it is in regard to selecting the trees. One year old trees are preferable to two year olds and should be bought of dealers known to be thoroughly reliable and handling citrus trees on a large scale. You should not run the risk of buying a mixed lot of trees gathered from various sources by a small dealer. Uniform quality true to name is what you should insist upon having. Where soils are light buds upon sweet orange stock are considered better, but if soil is heavy, subject to overflow, or drainage is poor, those on sour stock are best. In the colder sections trees on trifoliate stock have proven somewhat harder.—Ernest Braunton, in California Cultivator.

a recent letter to his parents, he said in part:

"When we arrived the streets were crowded and all was excitement. We got out very early and went out to see what was going on. At 11:10 a. m. the bulletin was put up. Then the people went wild—went crazy. They fell on their knees and prayed, and cried, and sang—kissed and embraced each other. After they had embraced and kissed their own people they began kissing and embracing the Yanks—every one in sight. It was a great sight and a great experience. After a while they began to get wilder, and carried the Yanks on their shoulders. Chauffeurs and taxicab drivers left their machines or climbed on the tops of them, stamping the tops in, in order to see better and add to the noise. We Yanks took possession of a truck drawn by two mules. We draped it with American flags and joined the procession down the Boulevard de (something or other), and to make it still more impressive I got out and rode one of the mules, carrying a huge American flag."

BADLY SQUEEZED

Editor Rugg of the Martinez Gazette, who is always "nosing" about for good things, found the following flotsam drifting the rounds of the press:

A member of congress from New England undertook to raise a sum of money for a charitable purpose, and, in order to collect as much money as possible, he wrote eloquent letters of appeal to his wealthiest constituents. From one of them he received the following heart-breaking reply:

"I have your letter requesting a donation for what you consider a very worthy cause. I flatter myself that I have a spirit of loyalty and generosity. I have contributed to each and every object that has been presented to me, but I have to decline helping your cause along for the following reasons:

"I have been held up, held down, sandbagged, walked on, sat on, rolled over, flattened out, and squeezed; first by the United States government for the Federal war tax, then excess profits tax, the Liberty Loan Bonds and the bonds of matrimony; in New Jersey for the state tax, the highway tax, the income tax, cat tax, and syntax, and every society and organization the inventive mind of man can invent to extract what you may or may not possess, from the Society of John the Baptist, the G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps, the men's relief, the stomach relief, the wireless, the husbandless, the childless, the conscienceless, the navy league, the Red Cross, the green cross, the double cross, and every other cross of all colors, and by the children's home, the Dorcas society and the hospital.

"One of my mills burned down, the henhouse and board walk blew away and, because I will not sell all that I have to go beg, borrow and steal, I have been cussed and discussed, boycotted, talked to and talked about, lied to, and lied about, held up, hung up, robbed and nearly ruined, and the only reason I am slinging to life is to see what in hell is coming next."

CALIFORNIA BOLSHEVIKI

Not satisfied with the overwhelming defeat at the polls of the German-imported Compulsory Health Insurance scheme, proponents of this Bolsheviki measure are reported to be planning a concerted effort to place it before the state legislature shortly after that body convenes January 7th. The audacity of the plan is in keeping with the autocratic provisions of the measure. Although it was condemned by the voters of the state, denounced by physicians, and flayed as a further waste of public money, its backers are still undismayed. There is, of course, no possibility of the legislature flying in the face of public opinion to the extent of passing any such Hunnish law as compulsory health insurance. The people would as soon tolerate the erection of a statue of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm before the capitol. The persistence, however, of those who advocate the enactment of socialistic and anarchistic measures becomes wearisome to the public. It degenerates into an abuse of the privileges accorded by the constitution. Fanatics who seek to force their ideas on others as a means of solving all the problems of life should immediately start for Russia or Austria, where their confrees are now hard at work putting into effect their communistic, megalomaniac or anarchistic ideas. There is no place for them in California, where sanity, freedom and patriotism rule.—Oakland Enquirer.

Mitchell SIXES

PRE-WAR PRICES For Just a Little While

Let us present this situation as it is. Then form your own conclusions.

The great Mitchell factory undertook a vast amount of war work—the building of army trucks. The production of Sixes almost ceased. So peace found them with materials bought largely at pre-war prices.

It also found them with a bigger factory and more men, with still more coming back from France. It found an organization keyed up to the maximum, in the very pink of condition.

It found Mitchell Sixes, like all other cars, selling on a war-cost basis. And it found countless buyers hoping prices would come down.

They Dropped the Limit

It was essential to restore normal output quickly. So Mitchell did the sensational thing—dropped to pre-war prices.

That means $1275 for the Six that sold at $1465. It means $1525 for the $1735 Six—an average reduction of $200 per car.

It means better than pre-war values. Mitchell engineers have bettered these cars in scores of ways during their war-time leisure.

Before the war, Mitchells were the pre-eminent values in the Light Six class. Today—at the same prices—they are vastly better values. They are by far the best cars Mitchell ever built.

Can These Prices Last?

These cars are built largely with pre-war materials, but the profit is practically nothing.

They must soon be built with newly-bought materials. And not a material, in all probability, will sell at pre-war cost.

When Mitchell buys new materials, these Sixes cannot sell at today's prices. That is sure.

You are profiting by an emergency—you who buy Mitchells now. You are getting the best Mitchells ever built. And you are buying at prices based on costs which cannot soon return, we believe.

These are Great Cars

These Mitchells are wonderful Sixes. They are built in a model plant under modern efficiency methods. They are built to high standards developed by 16 years of car building.

Mitchell Engineers, since the war began, have improved them in scores of ways. Come see what cars these prices buy while the prices last.
